Artaic Spotlights New Tile Size Offerings with the Launch of the Quad Collection

🕒 Artaic, a design manufacturer that creates artistic mosaics using robotic technology, has launched the Quad Collection.

Featuring intricate mosaic alignments, the collection showcases a wide array of tile geometries through the use of innovative compositions. The collection can be used in grid style, classic and modular alignments. Inspired by the properties of Artaic's vitreous glass and glazed porcelain tile lines, the collection can be custom fit to any wall, floor, ceiling, pool or exterior facade.

Unique to Artaic's product portfolio, the geometric nature of the Quad collection spotlights the tile size offerings from the brand's innovative vitreous glass line, which is available in new sizes — 1/2-, 1-inch, and 1/2- x 1 inch, as well as the glazed porcelain line, which is offered in 1-, 2-, 1 x 2-, 2 x 4- and 4-inch tile sizes. If specified in vitreous glass, designers can customize

Quad using a palette of more than 180 colors. The glazed porcelain tile similarly provides a sophisticated style and quality that is highly durable, especially for wet surfaces and priced competitively. With the Quad collection, clients can leverage their preferred tile type to create compositions such as Pinwheel, Classic, Brick, Domino, Weave, Ribbon, Block, Squared, Tetra, Check Mate, Herringbone and more.

When paired with the vitreous glass and glazed porcelain line, the Quad collection is available in solids, blends and patterns with the ability to choose from an expansive color palette that coordinates with any design.

"The Quad collection celebrates the versatility and vast design possibilities available with our vitreous glass and glazed porcelain tile lines through a thoughtful selection of modular alignments," said Ted Acworth, CEO and founder of Artaic. "The tile elements of the Quad collection can be organized into comprehensive arrangements that can stand on their own or in coordination with an existing design. Customized to fit within an idiosyncratic measurement of any space, these rather timeless alignments create an entirely unique setting in which they are applied."
